ROSI CLAIRE MINERAL VEIN

Opening Made on This Well
Known Vein at the Waters
Brink at Carrsville.

THE ZINC MARKET BOOMING

At Joplin, boom day prices are again being paid for zinc ore. The highest price reported the past week was $52.50 per ton for the King William mine output at Duenweg. Fifty-two dollars was paid for the Ohio mine output, on the Burgner land, in Cartersville. This is a stiff price for zinc, which has not stopped going up since the July curtailment of the output when the highest price was $37 per ton, a net increase in price in three months of $15.50 per ton. The price this week was still within $2.50 per ton of the highest recorded price ever paid in the district, $55 per ton, the second week of April, 1899. The assay basis price during the past week found the highest mark at $47.50 per ton of 60 per cent zinc, but there was any quantity of ore that brought a higher rate when sold on straight bids. One bin, said to have sold at $52 per ton, assays a very little over 60 per cent zinc. Lead prices are unchanged at $53.50 per ton for the choicest bins.

The Bumblebee mine and lease were sold last week to J. J. Wickham and associates of Cleveland, Ohio. The purchase price was $25,000. Other big deals are pending. The high prices now are even more strongly entrenched than during the boom period, and mining men do not look for an early slump. On the other hand they say the price will yet advance and not a few are willing to bank on a $60 mark.

At Carrsville on the river bank near the water's edge which is now unusually low a hole was drilled and fired. The result was a pronounced lead ore, evidently being the Rosi Claire vein, as both the Fairview mine as well as the Rosi-Claire are in a line just across the Ohio river. There was no indication of fluor spar but it will probably assert itself as it does in Illinois when a little work is done in exposing the vein. It is stated that the land on which this ore was located, belongs to Carrsville.

Considerable of a lumber yard is being gathered together at the Donakey place on the Sheridan road preparatory to possibly some extensive mining. So far this vein has not shown any very great possibilities, but it is in a good section of the district and may develop into something of a milling proposition.

On Felix Cox's farm near Sheridan at the old opening originally made by the Western Tube Company, T. H. King is taking out considerable gravel fluor spar. So far, he has managed to wash it fairly well and it is a medium shipping product, but not as yet a first-class article. A short distance from the Cox place King has a vein of lump spar opened that bids fair to do very well. He has a car load or two already for shipment. But very little lead shows in either place.

The Marion Mineral Company at their "Miller Carbonate Mine" will have two carloads of zinc for shipment the latter part of this week. This property is, we are informed, looking exceedingly promising, the carbonate is practically being mined much, as the work is conducted in a large stone quarry, boulders of solid carbonate of zinc weighing from 800 to 1200 pounds are not uncommon. This Miller vein has a quartzite hanging and a calcite foot wall, the ore being in almost a solid mass on the quartzite side.

In the Record for September 22nd, it is stated in the Mining News that the transportation of ores and minerals through the streets would not average ten per cent of last year's production. This statement was questioned by one of our larger miners and shippers who thought that fully as much if not a greater tonnage was made in September, 1904 as compared with the same month in 1903.

While the railroad shipments are not an infallible guide owing to the fact that in the case of one at least of the minerals a very large reserve stock of fluor spar is always at hand for any falling off either in mining or hauling from the mines and of course in the case of this mineral any deficiency in immediate production can be made up from this reserve supply. However it is but just to state that from the very best information obtainable the production of fluor spar throughout the district is distinctly larger than that of last year at this time. The shipping points in our district are Mexico, Crayneville and Marion, and while Marion possibly receives credit on shipments for part of the production of the two other points as more or less of the better grades is shipped to this point for grinding and re-shipped from this railroad station.

The following comparative statement of the shipments by the I. C. railroad will show the exact status for the month of September:

Fluor spar 900000 lbs.	1080000 lbs.
Fire clay 2760000 "	1320000 "
Zinc 840000 "	120000 "
Total 4500000 "	2520000 "

This comparative statement shows a loss in production of our mining products of very close to 50 per cent for the month just passed as compared with the corresponding month of last year

IN SESSION

Is Princeton Presbytery at Fredonia—
Guests Entertained Royally.

Princeton Presbytery of the C. P. church met at Fredonia, Ky., Tuesday, October 4, 1904.

The opening sermon was preached by Rev. A. C. Biddle from John 19:18.

Twelve ordained ministers were present and twenty-five congregations were represented.

Tuesday was spent in an Elder and Deacons' association in which vital church questions were ably discussed.

Madisonville was selected as the place for the next meeting of Presbytery.

Fredonia is royally entertaining the Presbytery.

More Cabbage Snakes.

Last Saturday Mrs. L. P. Mitchell had eaten some kraut for dinner, and on arising from the table she felt somewhat strange. A few seconds later she was very sick of a case of poisoning by the supposed cabbage snake. By the timely aid of Drs. Fowler and Davis she was relieved after persistent use of the stomach pump.

Most every one around Lo'a, where Mrs. Mitchell resides, are throwing out their kraut since the occurrence.

This shows in Dycusburg a Democratic majority of 16 over the total number of votes of other parties.

According to the votes registered here the Republicans have a majority over the Democrats of 37, or a majority of 26 over the Democratic vote plus the 11 miscellaneous votes. The third Tuesday, October 18th, was the additional registration day provided for by the city council. All voters in the corporate limits of Marion who failed to register last Tuesday should register on that day. It is estimated that there are fewer than 20 entitled to vote here who failed to register last Tuesday.

BIG SPEAKING

Judge George Denny Will Address
Voters Here Next Wednesday.

Judge George Denny, of Lexington, will be here next Wednesday and will address the voters of this county in behalf of the principles of the Republican party. Judge Denny is a well informed gentleman and a good orator. Much interest will be taken in the speaking and a good crowd is expected. This will be the opening of the campaign in the county for the Republicans and possibly people from some of the adjoining counties may be here.

Speaking at Court House Monday.

Next Monday at one o'clock p. m., there will be a public speaking at the court house. The speaker will be the Hon. J. W. Graham, who is the Populist elector for this, the first congressional district.

Mr. Graham is a well posted man and a good speaker. As this is county court day there will likely be a large crowd in town to hear him.

Will Control Burley.

President W. B. Hawkins, of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association, which was organized to control the present crop, has begun buying. The association has plenty of funds and it is expected that each grower will receive an equitable price for his tobacco.

Bowling Party.

Wednesday evening Messrs. C. C. Taylor, Dave Driskill, Rob Cook, Alvis Stephens, and Misses Ebba Pickens, Rebecca Williams, Kitty Gray, Carrie Moore and Leaffa Wilborn enjoyed bowling. A pound box of Gunther's chocolates for the couple with the highest score went to Miss Ebba Pickens and C. C. Taylor.

Three Children Poisoned at Levias.

Our Levias correspondent reports that three children of Charles McLures were seriously poisoned last Friday. They were playing "cooking and eating" and gathered some weeds, among them jimson and night shade and mixed them up as greens and ate of it. Dr. Fox was called and after working with them several hours succeeded in relieving them.

Tobacco Growers Take Notice.

Next Monday I will open a meeting with the tobacco growers of this county at the court house in Marion. The purpose of the meeting will be to organize and take steps to affiliate with the movement instituted by the tobacco growers held at Guthrie, Ky. on the 24th of September. The constitution adopted at the Guthrie meeting appears in this issue of the Record. Growers will please attend.

Baraca Society.

The Baraca Society met Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Pythian Hall.

There was a large crowd in attendance and the first work of the society was begun. The entire society composed of old and young men, constitutes one large class. One object of the Sunday meeting is to study each time and discuss some lesson in the Bible. A feature of these lessons will be their application in life, or whether the lessons are at all practical.

Blackford Man Killed.

Our Blackford correspondent reports that Hunter Kee, formerly of that place who left there some time ago for Anniston, Mo., was killed at the latter place as the result of a fistcuff.

It appears that Kee and a man had a dispute resulting in the fight in which Kee received a blow on the head. After this he walked a mile from the place of the occurrence and died the following night.

The body was sent to Blackford reaching there Sunday and was the same day interred in the Black cemetery.

METHODIST CONFERENCE

Sends Rev. J. R. McAfee Here

—Splendid Report of The Marion Church.

REV. JOINER GOES TO RUSSELLVILLE.

At Franklin the Louisville conference of the M. E. Church, South, adjourned Monday after Bishop Smith had assigned the ministers of the conference for the year.

Rev. T. V. Joiner, who has been the pastor of the local church for the last four years, was assigned to Russellville. He is an ideal pastor. Under his untiring and efficient leadership the church here has prospered and gained spiritual strength, and went to conference with a report to the effect that about $2,000 had been spent last year on the parsonage and in beautifying the church building, pastor paid in full and all debts and assessments paid.

Had it not been contrary to the rules of conference, Brother Joiner would doubtless have been returned here. He has won the love and esteem of the entire community, and the influence of his church heavily affects the moral sentiment of the town. To say that we regret to lose Brother Joiner as a citizen will not express the feeling of our people.

That Brother Joiner's successor, Rev. J. R. McAfee, has been retained at Cadiz for the last three years is an additional recommendation to the good report we have of him and we predict that he will meet with success here.

The following appointments were made for the Princeton District:

Presiding elder, Virgil Elgin; Cadiz, F. A. Mitchell; Canton, B. E. Goodrum; Carrsville, J. C. Smithson, Cerulean, Smith Givan; Dawson, S. E. Ragland; Eddyville, J. W. Crowe; Greenville, A. L. Mell; Greenville circuit, G. W. Shugart; Grand Rivers, J. S. Mitchell; Kuttawa, D. S. Campbell; Lamasco, Alexander Royster; Marion, J. R. McAfee; Princeton, G. W. Hummel; Shady Grove, T. F. Randolph; Salem, to be supplied; Smithland, W. C. Hayes; Smithland circuit, to be supplied by R. L. Tally; Star Lime Works, to be supplied; Tolu, R. T. McConnell.

Rev. Sidney Moore, of this county, was assigned to Rowena.

Rev. J. W. Bigham was transferred to the Florida conference.

Notice.

All persons holding claims against me are hereby requested to present same to J. G. Rochester, properly proven on or before the 1st day of November, 1904 for settlement.

DARK TOBACCO

Crop of 1904 all in House and Cured to the Stem.

The harvest of the 1904 tobacco crop will practically close with the end of this week, when it can be said the crop is beyond any danger from field damage. The work of securing the crop has proceeded generally under quite favorable conditions, though a few weeks have elapsed between the first and last cuttings and though some delays have been experienced on account of more rain than some former seasons, the lateness of the crop and slow maturing are responsible for the prolongation of the harvest. In the meantime curing of the first harvested fields has progressed under more than ordinarily favorable conditions. There has been no weather to speak of likely to produce shed burn or pole rot, and the shedded leaf has need to require but little attention from growers. The crop is now well cured down to the stem and shows good texture and coloring. A continuation of the usual Indian summer weather bids fair to bring the crop through without any of the troubles that are sometimes experienced. The injury from frosts so far is too slight to be taken into consideration. Of the late tobacco, very little will remain in the fields at the close of this week. We are coming so near the frost limit that farmers are rushing the harvest to a finish.

There is one thing the growers should bear in mind, that a few warm or damp days might cause their tobacco to shed or house burn on account of the stem not being cured. If this should occur, the quality of the leaf would be greatly injured and ruin the sale of the tobacco for certain purposes. To prevent this it would be well to watch the condition of the housed crop, and in the case of unfavorable weather to fire it moderately would prevent the damage.

HARNESS SHOT

Three Men at Memphis Mines Attack
Him With Shot Gun.

Monday night at the Memphis mines three men, Jim and Jack Armstrong and John Ramsey quarreled with Oda Harness and all three attacked him. Realizing his uneven chances Harness tried to make his escape when a shot gun was fired at him. Only a few shots took effect however, one in his left arm and one on his head. Harness immediately came to town and had his wounds dressed. They were found not to be serious.

The affray will be investigated by the grand jury. There are frequent disturbances of this sort in this section and the officers of the law are likely to rigorously enforce the laws there until the community can maintain a better deportment. One of the leading citizens of this town stated to a Record reporter that a primary reason why certain elements disregarded the law in that community was that there was not a church in a radius of five miles of the place and that 75 per cent of the young people there were never at a Sunday school in their lives.

After learning of the affray, Clem Nunn, President of the Kentucky Fluor Spar Co., which owns the Memphis mines, drove down on Wednesday and discharged twelve of the miners. Thursday morning they came to town to receive their wages and filed down the streets in twos.

TOBACCO GROWERS

Who Recently Met at Guthrie Adopted the Following Constitution.

At a meeting of about 5000 farmers of the dark tobacco district at Guthrie Saturday, the committee upon organization reported the following constitution which was adopted with the amendment that 70 per cent of the tobacco must be cured before article 8 is operative.

The committee was made up as follows with F. G. Ewing, of Robinson county as chairman:

Tennessee—Stewart county, W. B. Hall; Robinson, F. G. Edwards; Montgomery, Polk Prince; Cheatham, J. E. Hodgins; Obion, D. C. Reeves; Houston, John Sargent; Dickson, Marshall Cunningham.

Kentucky—Crittenden county, A. H. Cardin; Trigg, T. E. Crenshaw; Todd, Frank Walton; Christian, J. D. Clardy; Simpson, J. R. Claypoole; Weakley, R. E. Holliday; Caldwell, J. H. McConnell; Graves, John Palmer; Logan, Henry Thurman.

Article 1. This association shall be known as the Dark District Tobacco Planters' association.

Article 2. The object of the association shall be to assist each member in grading and selling his tobacco.

Article 3. The government of the association shall be vested in a board of directors, consisting of a president, vice president and secretary-treasurer, (the latter two offices to be filled by one man.) The president, vice president and secretary and treasurer are to be elected viva voce, after a resolution has been offered and adopted at the mass meeting at Guthrie, Ky., on the 24th inst. that we be and are an association. The president, vice president and secretary-treasurer each become an ex-officio member of the executive committee of the association, in the event of disability or absence of the president, the vice president or secretary-treasurer shall in turn preside at meetings of the general board of directors of the executive committee, and other directors to be elected as hereinafter provided, a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum.

Article 4. The board of directors shall have power to make and amend bylaws and do and transact all business of the association not herein delegated to committees. It shall be the privilege of the board of directors to instruct any committee appointed or elected, or to have any committee appointed or elected, submit for the consideration of the general board, any momentous question before decisive action is taken, when a majority of said directors indicate by writing their wish to have such subject submitted for their consideration.

Article 7. The board of directors shall be elected as follows: Each district of each county represented in the association shall hold an annual election on the—day of—each year and choose a representative to act as one of the directors of this association for the ensuing year

Article 6. The executive committee of the association shall consist of one person from each of the respective counties represented in this Dark Tobacco association and shall be elected as follows: The members of the board of directors from each county shall elect from their number a chairman and vice chairman of their respective representation, and the chairman so chosen shall be ex-officio a member of the executive committee of this association. When by absence or duties which associates said chairman entirely with the executive committee and renders it impracticable for him to preside at meetings of the county board of his respective county, the vice chairman immediately assumes the duties of the chairman as relates to the county board. When by disability or absence of said chairman from the deliberations of the executive committee, the vice chairman immediately assumes his duties as a member of said executive committee. The duties and powers of the executive committee shall be as follows:

To investigate the prices and best markets for selling tobacco; to sell to the best advantage the tobacco crops of each and all the members of this association, either at barn of each member through warehouses or brokers or otherwise as they deem best; to exercise a general supervision when they deem it best to do so, over the grading of the tobacco of each member of this association by buyers, warehousemen, brokers or licensed inspector as to the inspection—as in their judgment seems advisable, to the end that no mistake is made or fraud committed; to make agreements with such warehousemen or brokers as are recognized and are recommended by this association, that their books, so far as they relate to transactions with any member of this association, shall at all times be subject to the inspection of this committee or a sub-committee; to sell the tobacco to such person, persons or corporations for such a sum or sums of money in cash as in their judgment seems best, the proceeds of sale, however, to be paid direct by the buyer, warehousemen or broker to the member of the association owning the tobacco. There is nothing in this article that would warrant said executive committee in making a good crop of tobacco sell an inferior one. Where a very large amount of tobacco is wanted by a purchaser some fine and some of the common grade, the committee is expected to see to it that the price of the better grade is not lowered by the sale of the commoner.

Article 8. This association being organized and offered alone for the protection of the tobacco planters, each member of the association, on becoming a member, obligates himself and binds himself to obey all legal and reasonable rules and regulations made by the general board of directors, and executed by the executive committee and members of this association. Each member realizes that without a united effort and willing obedience to the action of the executive committee no good can be accomplished. Each member of this association also obligates himself to use his influence and strong endeavors with those tobacco planters who are not members of this association to become members. It is understood that no member of this association is ready to receive a salary for services rendered, but realizing it may become necessary to employ expert salesmen or handlers of tobacco in disposing of same, each member of this association agrees and binds himself that his crop of tobacco shall bear a reasonable and pro rata part, when sold, of such expenses as the executive committee deems necessary to an advantageous sale of the whole crop of the tobacco district.

STATE AUDITOR WINS

School Fund Not to Share in Taxes Collected by Insurance.

The contention of State Auditor Hager and of Insurance Commissioner Prewitt that the common school fund of the state is not entitled to share in the direct taxes collected by the insurance department from companies doing business in Kentucky was upheld by Special Judge Carroll in the Franklin circuit court. The amount in controversy was about $130,000 covering a period of years, and the auditor claimed that had the apportionment to the school fund been made, it would have necessitated the reapportionment by the next general assembly of the sheriff's revenue.

The apportionment was insisted upon by State Superintendent Fuqua, backed by an opinion of General Hays. The court holds the school fund to be entitled to an apportionment of the $10,000 license taxes collected annually by the insurance department.

KILLING FROST

Will Occur About October 24th. Says Dr. Irl R. Hicks.

The storm period in progress at the close of September will be felt the first two days of this month in the eastern part of the country while the high barometer and change to fair and colder weather will have advanced eastward beyond the central valley of the Mississippi.

On and touching the 4th and 5th look for return of higher temperature, falling barometer and more falling weather. All these October disturbances will wind up with rising barometer, change of wind to northwesterly, and much cooler weather.

The first regular storm period proper for October is central on the 11th, and extends from the 8th to the 12th. Expect very warm weather for the season, followed by rain and wind. Within forty-eight hours of noon on the 8th, seismic disturbances in many parts of the earth need not cause surprise.

The next storm period will be central on the 16th, 17th and 18th. This is a Vulcan reactionary period and it will bring on a disturbed weather condition that will run most probably into the regular storm period following.

During the regular Vulcan period central on the 22nd the already unsettled elements will return to very decided storm conditions. From about the 21st to the 24th general and active autumnal storms may be expected. A very depressed barometer will advance from the west, attended by storms, first of rain and probable thunder, followed by early spurts of snow and sleet in northern extremes. Heavy northwesterly gales will visit the great lakes and the north Atlantic coasts at this time, and a general and decided change to colder will spread over most parts of the country with the anti-storm area that follows this period. The culminating crisis of this period will fall on and touching Monday the 24th.

On and about this date will also be another period when earthquake shivers will be reported from different quarters of the globe. Look for frost well to the southward, with some freezing to the north at the end of and for some days following this period.

The last period of disturbance in October, blending with Mercury equinox, is central on the 27th and 28th. At this time look for a reaction to warmer, with falling barometer and return of rain and thick cloudiness and mist, amounting to sleet in many sections northward.

The month will go out with anti-storm areas spreading eastward from the west-northwest causing change to much cooler.

We have just received a car load of Studebaker wagons.

SENATOR HOAR PASSES AWAY

His Great Vitality Kept Him Alive
Weeks After Doctors Gave Up.

Senator George Frisbee Hoar died at Worcester, Mass., on Sept. 29th. The end followed a period of unconsciousness that had continued several days and came so gently that only the attending physicians were aware of the exact moment of dissolution.

Attending physicians despaired of the senator's life six weeks ago, but such vitality was exhibited by the distinguished patient that even they were surprised and the public at times were led to cherish faith in his ultimate recovery. On the Sunday preceding his death, however, all hope was abandoned after an unsuccessful attempt to administer medicine and nourishment. Brief intervals of consciousness were followed by longer durations of unconsciousness until Tuesday morning, when the venerable statesman sank into a state of coma from which all efforts to rouse him proved futile.

SIDE LIGHTS ON HIS CHARACTER.

"What are you going to do for vacation?" he was once asked.

"Rest in my library and read Greek," he replied.

That was his idea of a good time.

He never desired great wealth.

"If anyone should place in my hands now $1,000,000 as a gift," he said, "I doubt if it would produce any unusual emotion."

The senator often said he expected to die between the ages of seventy-eight and eighty, because his father, brother and other relatives died at about that age. He was seventy-eight on August 29 last.

His one extravagance was the collection of rare autographs and expensive prints.

The legislation in which, during his many years of service for the country, he took most pride was that providing for the rebuilding of William and Mary college, in Virginia, and for constructing the Mississippi jetties under Captain James Eads.

Senator Hoar declined offers of appointments as attorney-general and as minister to England under Hayes, and as ambassador to that country under McKinley.

HIS ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN.

Senator Hoar had a great love for young men, and was a much-sought-for orator by the principals of schools and the presidents of colleges. His advice to young men was briefly as follows:

"First—Do not hurry. For those that want to work well there is time. The wise disregard bustle and hustle and place thoroughness above speed.

"Second—Remember that there is something more to live for than money. Turn from the race after the world's goods, the mad fight for greed, to the love of higher things. You may devote yourself to the practical arts, but remember that there is something nobler to human life. Do not neglect the spiritual side.

"Third—I advise you to read some author every day. Read him so well, soak yourself so thoroughly with him, bathe in his wisdom so often that you will emerge from him as from a sparkling fountain of purity."

Some one asked Senator Hoar what he would advise men to read. "Read the lives of Thomas Jefferson, Washington, Lincoln, Wendell Phillips, Jno. Bright, Henry George and other men that have stood for something and meant something," he said.

Probably the strongest plea ever made by Senator Hoar was for the Filipinos. His speeches in the senate at the time are among the greatest ever delivered on that subject.

BEREA COLLEGE

Will Assist the Deserving Students of Moderate Means.

The Berea Citizen says that the fall term enrollment at the College is about equal to that of last year, notwithstanding the loss of colored students. It is our opinion that the attendance at Berea will largely increase. The College will remain in the future as it has in the past, the home of the poor, deserving students and not of the rich spendthrift. The College is accomplishing a great work, it is a real college, not one of those high schools that calls itself a college, and it is destined to be the greatest institution of learning in the South.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE PENNY POSTAGE

An Impossibility Owing to Rural Delivery Routes.

Because of the great increase in the appropriations for rural delivery, postoffice officials say that any thought of having penny letter postage in the United States must be postponed many years.

Penny postage as well as possible 2-cent postage with Europe, which reports from abroad indicate will also have to be given up, have been pet projects of Postmaster General Payne ever since he has been at the head of the postoffice department.

When Mr. Payne became postmaster general the postoffice revenues were almost equal to expenses—a condition very unusual. He then conceived the idea that penny postage might be possible in a few years, but the addition of free rural delivery, the expenses of which have quite overbalanced the receipts, changed the aspect of the affair.

According to figures which have just been prepared by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, the rural free delivery in operation June 30, 1905, will cost approximately $20,000,000 a year. The department also has plans for extension next years which will increase the cost $6,000,000.

The entire scheme of free rural delivery is to increase the system gradually each year until the entire country is covered. It is believed that such a complete service will cost at least $40,000,000.

TO SETTLE QUESTION

Judge Evans Will Decide About Beer-ine in Federal Court.

Judge Evans, of federal court, will probably decide at the approaching November term whether or not a man can retail beerine without paying the government license. It is claimed that the decoction is non-intoxicating.

Several cases are now awaiting settlement in the federal court, one being sent up yesterday when W. T. McDoo, of Fulton, was held for grand jury action and released on bond.

It seems that in local option towns the liquor has a big sale, and the temperance people are trying to stop it.

MATCHLESS

Quality is

Long after the Price Forgotten

Good Goods are so
Cheap you can't afford to buy trash.

This is the only word that fittingly describes our Immense Stock of Clean, Fresh, New Fall Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes and Hats.

MATCHLESS IN QUALITY! MATCHLESS IN VARIETY! MATCHLESS IN PRICE!

New Goods and plenty of them are now here ready for your inspection. We are ready to show you the Newest, Choicest and Best Goods that the Best Markets Afford. We are ready to save you more money this season on your Fall and Winter Goods than ever before. READ ALL THE OTHER ADVERTISEMENTS, SEARCH IN EVERY STORE IN MARION. EXAMINE QUALITY AND PRICES ANYWHERE, EVERYWHERE, THEN COME TO THIS BIG CASH STORE AND BUY YOUR GOODS FOR LESS MONEY THAN FROM ANY OTHER STORE.

SHOES.

We are proud of the fact that this store has always had the reputation of being the leaders in Shoes and we assure you that we are prepared this season to still further strengthen this position. Once a shoe customer always a shoe customer is the history of our shoe business. No difference how low the price you won't get a shoddy shoe from us. That's why the people who once buy of us "keep a comin'."

We can't put quality on paper so it's useless for us to quote prices. You'll have to see the goods to know the value. But we would suggest that before you pay $1.25 for Mens Brogans you had better see the one we are selling for 98 cents, also before you plank down a good big dollar for womans winter shoe, suppose you take a look at our all solid shoe for 85 cents. Also our Misses School Shoes for 85 cents.

The only line of Womans High Class Made-to-Order Shoes sold in Marion. No higher in price but simply more style, more service, more comfort for same money.

DRESS GOODS.

We lead the season as usual with the newest advance styles in Dress Goods and Waist Goods. We can show you all of the popular goods in the leading colors and newest shades. They are bought at headquarters from one of the largest dress goods houses in the country. We were fortunate in getting many bargains and can show you many new things, which you won't find elsewhere. We can't tell you the full story here. You must see the goods to know how big and how many bargains we are offering. A regular 35c line for 25c. A regular 50c. line for 39c. As low as 10c, as good as the best in town.

Staple Dry Goods.

We are glad to tell you that Cotton has quit climbing upward in price and that you no longer have to pay advance price on your cotton goods. EVERYTHING BACK TO OLD PRICES AND SOME THINGS EVEN LESS. This season, as heretofore, we are showing the best line of Staple Dry Goods, Calicoes, Domestic, Cotton Checks, Canton Flannels, Shirtings, Bed Tickings, Outing Cloths, Dercalcs, Gingham, etc. that the market affords.

Maintaining the high quality of these goods (we won't handle trash, no difference how tempting the price) we shall at same time make prices very interesting to those looking for bargains.

No difference what prices others may put on paper, REMEMBER we own these goods at as low prices as any house anywhere and some things perhaps for even less, and you would do well to come in our house and learn our prices before you buy these goods.

CLOTHING.

Here is where we will not only save you pennies but good big dollars. We realize the weight of every word when we boldly claim that we will sell you anything you want in clothing for less money than you can buy same quality for elsewhere.

AND REMEMBER you'll have the advantages of one of the largest, best and most up-to-date stocks in the country to select from. No use for us to quote prices. Telling you that we would sell a $15.00 suit for $4.87 would not convince anyone. You must see the goods and compare with others to know whether they are really values. We challenge a comparison with goods from anywhere.

LADIES JACKETS.

We can speak with authority on Ladies Jackets. For seven years we have bought from same manufacturer, and we know that when they put a garment on the market that it is ABSOLUTELY CORRECT in style. The same that you would find in the leading retail stores in the cities. Each season our trade has shown an increase in this line, for the people know that when they get a wrap from us that it is not only right in price but right in style. Largest and Best Line of Childrens Jackets in town.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT
THEODORE ROOSEVELT
OF New York.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT
CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS
Of Indiana.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR SHERIFF

DUVALL—We are authorized to announce Alonzo J. Duvall as candidate for the office of Sheriff of Crittenden county, subject to the action of the Republican party. Election 1905.

Would Governor Beckham's speaking dates have been cancelled had he granted the pardon instead of Thorne?

It is stated that the pardon of Clem Butcher cost his mother and brothers about $20,000. If this is true who got the money?

The alacrity with which campaign chairman Hagar, Gov. Beckham and his following let Lieut. Gov. Thorne fall was surprising. Did they like him anyhow?

Chairman Richard P. Ernst, of the Republican state campaign committee, made a trip through Western Kentucky this week and announced that he was well pleased with the outlook.

It is announced by Gov. Foster Peabody, Treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, that an appeal will be issued this week for small contributions. We suppose they are through taking up the collection from the trusts.

We would suggest to Lieut. Gov. Thorne that while the tender heart is not to be condemned when accompanied by proper virtues, yet he made a mistake by not shuffling the cards like Beckham did when he pardoned Raleigh.

There seems to be a great deal of comment provoked by Major General Corbin's views on the marriage of young army officers. So far as army officers are concerned, we look upon them as citizens of the United States. If they are competent to hold an officer's commission, they should be competent to know their own ability to provide for a wife and under ordinary conditions we do not see any reason why they should be prohibited from marrying.

As the result of indictments for failure to enforce law, the Mayor and police commissioner of Lexington Sunday closed the city tight, so tight that ice and milk wagons were not to be seen anywhere. A few such things, were later found to be necessities, therefore the city will never be so tight again. Either the city officials lack good judgment or meant to justify previous violations of the law by making the order "close up" force the people to suffer the need of the necessities.

The certificates received Tuesday by those who registered must be preserved and presented on the final election day in November as an evidence of registration and also as a qualification to vote. This is the requirement of the new law and must be observed since the highest court in the State has declared it constitutional.

It would be easy to lose the certificates, and in the larger cities an easier matter for them to be destroyed by men who disregard law and who might gain possession of them. The law should have carried a provision assessing an equitable penalty against those who might buy, sell or unlawfully destroy the certificates. When the present law was being enacted by the last legislature, some Republican members of the assembly offered an amendment covering this ground, but the Democratic members voted it down.

Judge Parker made a visit to New York a few weeks ago to confer with the Democratic National Campaign Committee. The head of the committee, Thos. Taggart, left New York for Indiana on the eve of the Judge's arrival. Parker received an explanation as to the reason of Taggart's absence on an occasion so important, however it does not seem that the explanation was satisfactory or that he was pleased with the state of affairs since he made it known that he would have Mr. Gorman, of Maryland, take a hand in the matters of the National Campaign Committee. Mr. Taggart still being recognized at the head of the committee, yet his personal attention would be given to the campaign in Indiana. And this is the presidential nominee who was not going to give personal directions regarding the plans of his campaign. Taggart ought to resign. Anyway we do not know whether to receive this matter as meaning that Mr. Taggart was inefficient or that Judge Parker wants to be "Big Stick," or whether it means both.

If Dr. Henry Wade Rogers, "formerly President of the Northwestern University, distinguished writer on constitutional law, present dean of the law department of Yale University," an exchange says, which possibly overlooked some other appellations, we say if he is not a member of Parker's constitutional club he ought to join it. He criticizes the President in a general way and says he is a "dangerous pilot for a great ship."

So far as we are concerned we would prefer risking our welfare with a pilot of experience, a leader of men, and a servant who can do than to sail on the salty deep or even the river by the same name, with a pilot whose knowledge of watercraft is possibly confined to the stream at Esopus where the would-be pilot takes a bath every morning, although we have it on good authority "he is dirty yet." But the point we would make is this, that we do not think the opinion of any doctor or college professor will have much weight with the people whose voice will determine what power shall conduct the state of affairs, especially if he is so obscure, or for some other reason it becomes necessary to tell all about him or give a synopsis of his whole life in order to say what he thinks. What we want are the opinions of men who live in the hearts of American people, men of decision and ability and whose past deeds will stand as a bond for the acts of their future lives.

The business people, of Marion, are engaged in a campaign, not a political campaign, but a campaign for business. Our merchants have sold out old stocks and replaced old goods with new ones. The quality is better but the prices are not increased and in some cases the prices are less. Our merchants all know and realize that small profits and volume of business pays better than large profits and little business.

The people who buy goods should appreciate this fact and those who have heretofore sent money away or have gone to the large cities to buy goods should remember that it is impossible to get better values for their money when rents and taxes in larger cities are higher than they are here. Remember that those who buy goods there help pay the rent and taxes. That great man and economic philosopher, Abraham Lincoln, said in substance that if we buy our goods abroad we will have only the goods, while if we buy them at home, our own community will possess both the goods and the money.

When we tell you that at this season of the year from $1500 to $2000 is sent from here every month to the mail order houses in Chicago and other large cities you will doubtless be surprised, yet it is true, and we can furnish the proof. Just think about it, at least $15,000 per year sent away from here when in nine cases out of ten the very thing you want can be gotten here. It is an injustice to the community, and means little short of boycotting your merchants. Suppose they were to boycott you and not sell you staples or any of the small necessities of household use? Would it not discommodate you to have to go or send away for everything? Therefore, the home merchant is a necessity and a benefit to us. You owe him your patronage. If he does not have what you want he can get it for you quicker than you can and likely give you better values for the money. The mail order houses would have you believe great things about their goods, but remember, they have them to sell. They don't know you; don't care anything about you; your money and their profits will satisfy them. Remember, they are only advertising their goods. Read their catalogues and you would feel, concerning the values they claim to give that they were nothing short of philanthropists. Think about it and you will know they are not.

There are many prominent and successful merchants in Marion. You will find their advertisements in the Record and we hope that you as our patrons, and whose patronage we appreciate, will give these merchants your trade. These remarks are also applicable to every town, the homes of whose people the Record enters. Their merchants often advertise in the Record and should receive a liberal patronage from our readers.

CONSTITUTIONAL

So Says the Court of Appeals of Registration Law.

The Court of Appeals upholds the validity of the act of the last general assembly providing for the issuing of registration certificates to voters, and the extension of registration to all incorporated towns in the commonwealth.

The opinion was delivered by Judge Settle, the whole court considering the question and concurring.

The question came before the court here on an appeal from the Kenton circuit in a case of J. C. B. Yates against J. D. Collins. W. H. Mackoy sat as a special judge in the case and held the act to be unconstitutional, and the opinion of today is a reversal of that judgment.

The court says: "That the act is in several respects defective must be conceded, but the defects are such as may be corrected by future legislation, and being of the opinion that the act is neither unreasonable or violative of the provisions of the constitution it is our duty to uphold its validity."

The court holds that all officers of registration must sign the certificates to parties who could not register on the regular day for doing so.

THE SUNDAY BIBLE SCHOOL

Lesson in the International Series for October 9, 1904—"The Widow's Oil Increased."

(Prepared by the "Highway and Byway" Preacher.)
(Copyright, 1904, by J. M. Edson.)

LESSON TEXT.

(11 Kings 4:1-7; Memory verses, 5, 6.)
1. Now there cried a certain woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets unto Elisha, saying: Thy servant my husband is dead; and thou knowest that thy servant did fear the Lord, and the creditor is come to take unto him my two sons to be bondmen.

2. And Elisha said unto her: What shall I do for thee? Tell me, what has thou in the house? And she said: Thine handmaid hath not anything in the house, save a pot of oil.

3. Then he said: Go, borrow thee vessels abroad of all thy neighbors, even empty vessels; borrow not a few.

4. And when thou art come in, thou shalt shut the door upon thee and upon thy sons, and shalt pour out into all those vessels, and thou shalt set aside that which is full.

5. So she went from him, and shut the door upon her and upon her sons, who brought the vessels to her, and she poured out.

6. And it came to pass, when the vessels were full, that she said unto her son: Bring me yet a vessel. And he said unto her: There is not a vessel more. And the oil stayed.

7. Then she came and told the man of God. And he said: Go, sell the oil, and pay thy debt, and live thou and thy children of the rest.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Trust in the Lord and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed."—Ps. 37:3.

TIME—Uncertain; but within a short time after last lesson.

PLACE—Uncertain; but perhaps one of the places where was a school of the prophets, either Gilgal, Bethel or Jericho.

HUMAN NEED AND DIVINE RESOURCES.

The Widow and Her Need. (V. 1.)—What we know of the widow: (1) She was a Godly woman. 1 Tim. 5:5 gives us a picture of the Godly widow. God holds such in special regard. (1 Tim. 5:3.)

And one test of true religion is ministering to such in their need. (Jas. 1:27.) (2) Was known to Elisha. The faithful, God-fearing lives of both her husband and herself proved excellent capital on which to do business. Godliness does pay. (1 Tim. 4:8.) (3) Was in the clutches of the oppressive creditor. Affliction and misfortune are not always a sign of sin or folly. (John 9:1-3.) (4) Had two sons who in accordance with the custom of those days were to be taken to satisfy the debt. (Lev. 25:39. Matt. 18:25.) (5) Her need was urgent. "The creditor is come." The day of trouble is the day to pray. (Psalm 50:15.)

The Prophet and His Help (Vs. 2-4).—Two questions were asked by the prophet, "What shall I do for thee?" "What hast thou in the house?" (1) God always wants us to tell Him our desires. To tell God what we want, clarifies our vision, and strengthens our faith. (2) God always uses what we have, be it ever so little, as the medium of blessing.

Strange Instructions.—(1) Borrow empty vessels. (2) Shut herself and her sons in the house. (3) Pour out her little pot of oil and perhaps waste it. Surely, here was a test of faith. If the widow had been like most people seeking help, she would have had her own ideas as to methods. (1) May not the borrowing of empty vessels suggest the need of greater capacity. We need to be enlarged for more of God's fullness. (2) May not the shut door and the seclusion, teach us the need of getting alone with God where His blessing may descend upon us. (3) And may not the pouring out of the oil and its miraculous increase typify the multiplying of spiritual gifts and power as we pour out our hearts and our lives in behalf of needy souls all about us.

The Obedience and Its Reward (Vs. 5-7).—Unwavering faith and implicit obedience mark the conduct of the widow. The empty vessels were borrowed in the face, probably, of curious looks, and prying questions and sneers of ridicule. The door was closed, shutting herself and her sons away from all other earthly help and every moment the knock of the creditor was expected.

And what faith! Only the little pot of oil in hand, and the empty vessels on every hand. How seemingly impossible to fill them. But the pot of oil and the empty dishes were not all the widow had. She had the word of the prophet. And we have the word of God on which to depend. Let us lay hold of it as the widow did of the prophet's word, which was really the word of God spoken through His servant. That little pot of oil never ceased its outpouring stream of oil until every vessel was filled to the brim. That is the way God gives of His riches in Christ Jesus. Begin to pour out yourself in Christ ministry to others and while there is an empty vessel about you to fill, a need soul to help, the flow will not cease.

But what is she to do with the oil? The prophet did not tell her. She must go back and tell him of what had come to pass and ask him for further direction. Without question she has obeyed his instructions. She has gone as far as she can. Now for the next step. Here is a lesson for every Christian. True faith does not ask to see all the way. True faith goes straight ahead as far as the instructions will carry and then is time to go to God for the next step. The oil sold, the creditors paid, the future provided for was the reward of obedient faith and faithful obedience. How God always hears the cry of His children, and how certainly will He honor faith and obedience. The Psalmist's declaration in Ps. 37:25 finds illustration in this lesson.

The Quiet Hour.
Men seldom seek to dissect a religion until it is dead.

Seeds of sin must be edged by their sheaves of sorrow.

Its need of salvation is the secret of the world's sadness.

The really busy man always has more time than the man who only thinks he is busy.

It is not wise to put all your energies into working for old rebels to the neglect of new recruits.

THE MUSIC OF MONEY

BY NEWT NEWKIRK.

(Copyright, 1900, by The Shortstory Publishing Company. All rights reserved.)

Baptiste LaCroix was weazened, withered, little and old when he came alone from France to New Orleans. He died there, but that was in 1801, so his story has been lost to the world in the years that have passed. Baptiste LaCroix had a god—Baptiste LaCroix loved but one kind of music—his god was money and his music was the clink of the shining metal.

Often, as he walked, Baptiste thrust his hands into his pockets and ran his trembling fingers among a few coins that he always carried, so that they would clink together. Then his eyes would dilate, his step would quicken and over his seared face would creep a smile, but it was a smile that chilled—the smile of a miser. He never did this within the hearing of anyone but himself. Baptiste was selfish of his music, and besides he feigned to be poor—so poor that the covering was worn off the buttons on his coat and the cloth upon his elbows thin and polished with long service—so poor that he scarcely bought food sufficient to sustain him, and therefore he sometimes went hungry. He was often called a beggar and was as often pleased, for if the world believed him poor the world would not rob him. Poor Baptiste!

He brought with him from over the sea two chests which were bound in iron, and stout. They were small, but they were heavy. In the old French Quarter of New Orleans the miser bought a house. The reason he bought it was because the house was put up at sale to satisfy a creditor and went for a song. The building was not large—certainly not beautiful—but it was strong, the walls were thick, and that sufficed. Into this house the miser moved the two chests and within it he lived, its sole tenant. When the nights were dark he would close the shutters, bolt the door, and, by the light of a sputtering candle, unlock the chests and filter through his trembling fingers the gold and silver coins that filled them, until his heart would pound in un wonted rhythm to their music. Baptiste would then relock the chests, push them under his bed, tie the keys about his neck, blow out the candle and creep to bed, where the blended echoes of gold and silver would lull him to sleep. When there was a moon, enough light filtered through the windows to make the candle an expensive luxury. Moonlight cost him nothing.

Baptiste began to look about him for some means whereby he might add to his store of wealth; the more money, the merrier music. There were profits to be made in the traffic of slaves. He investigated and learned that men about him had become rich in that business; they had made money that might as well have been his. But the buying and selling of slaves had a risk that terrified him. These blacks were ill-treated and ill-fed; many of them were old and one or more might die on his hands. The loss of their lives was nothing but—the loss of profits! He wished he could have bought and sold their souls, for he had heard somewhere that souls never die.

The conditions, however, were before him and he must risk if he would win. He bought with the marvelous eye of a miser, in a small way at first, but, as he learned the tricks of the trade, more extensively. Baptiste was a modest middleman. He knew where to put his hands on such slaves as his patrons wanted. He dealt in fathers, mothers, sons and daughters as if they had been so many sheep or cattle. He bought low; he sold high, and prospered, but in such a quiet way that few seemed to know who he was or where he lived.

Baptiste, in his best years, had never accumulated money so rapidly. He saved it, all but the trifle on which he lived, and in time filled a third chest. The music grew the sweeter and the more mellow as his hoard increased and as his creeping age enfeebled him. The time came when it required all his strength to drag the smallest chest from under the bed so that he might sift the coins and hear them ring. The exertion spent his strength and he often wished it were possible to sit idly by and yet hear the clinking of the coins. As he pondered over the idea of the money making its own music a plan unfolded itself and Baptiste resolved to adopt it straightway, even if it should cost something.

The next day and for many days thereafter, workmen were busy in the miser's home. Baptiste followed them about and directed. When they had finished, the result of their labors stood in the center of the room where he ate and slept. It was massively built, stone upon stone, from the ground beneath the floor to the height of nine feet. Its other dimensions were three feet each way, making its horizontal section square. Its walls were six inches thick, leaving an interior two and one-half feet square in which a man might stand erect and turn about. The inside was metal-lined. There was a solitary barred window, a few inches square, in one wall of the structure, within arm's reach from the inside, that admitted a shaft of light. There was also a heavy, swinging panel door that locked with a great key through which a man might squeeze within the walls. Above and with its apex hanging downward on the inside, was a metal hopper as large as the top of the structure. The slots in the apex of this structure was the thickness and width of a current gold or silver coin. Baptiste's triumph might have passed for a huge stone chimney, but it was a money music box, and, at the same time, a vault.

The miser had only to carry his coin in small loads up the ladder against the outside, empty them into the hopper, release the mechanism at the slot, which would drop the pieces at whatever pace desired, and listen in idle ecstasy to their music as they dripped within the vault, rolling and ringing in sweetest symphony. There was something almost pathetic in the childish way poor old Baptiste would unlock the vault door at night, carry a few gold and silver burdens aloft to the hopper, release the slide at the slot and then sit crouched outside the walls, listening to the money's music.

The miser had been blessed with a most profitable week in his slave-traffic. He counted his earnings with excited fingers on Sabbath morning and promised himself a concert, the like of which he had never heard, on that very day. Going up and down the ladder was toilsome work for a feeble old man like Baptiste, but the promised music seemed to lend unusual strength to his tottering legs and palsied hands. How many times he crept aloft burdened with coin he knew not, but at last his wealth lay gleaming in the hopper and the vault was empty.

Then Baptiste set the slot at a measured pace, went down the ladder for the last time and, sliding through the open panel door, pulled it slowly to and locked it on the inside. He even removed the key and placed it on the ledge of the single window which lighted the interior, as if it were safer there. The miser's grand concert was under way. The coins fell at his feet and rolled about with ringing accents. Baptiste crouched in the corner and closed his eyes, so that vision might not share with hearing. The music thrilled, then soothed, his tired faculties, and at length his white head nodded and Baptiste slept.

When the miser opened his eyes he knew not for the instant where he was, until his ear caught the sound of the coins which were yet falling. He was chilled and aching with the sensation of a great weight bearing him down. He tried to rise from his cramped posture, but his stiffened limbs responded weakly and it was with difficulty that he shook off the weight and struggled to his feet. Then he reeled and would have fallen had not the close walls of the vault supported him. He was seized with a choking sensation, and in nervous haste stretched his thin hand upward toward the key which lay on the window ledge.

His trembling fingers touched it—pushed it through the bars—where it hung balancing an instant, and then fell on the outside.

As the key struck the floor it rang with a clink that seemed to mock the clink of the falling coins within.

As the full significance of the miser's situation forced itself upon him, his knees gave way and he sank in a limp and motionless heap—a prisoner with his wealth. His eyes were closed and his head rested sideways on his knees, directly under the slot. Each falling coin struck him on the temple and glanced against the metal lining of the vault with a ring. Baptiste was yet conscious, but without power to move. The coins smote him with pendulum-like regularity, until each one pained like a knife-trust and then jingled merrily to rest among its fellows. At length the money's music came to him indistinctly, as if it were a great way off, and he felt the pain no longer. Baptiste was drifting—drifting in a golden ship over a golden sea. The shimmering waters rocked him gently, while the waves covered him with their glittering spray. Then Baptiste fell into a sleep—a sleep wherein the heart stops and the flickering light of life goes out.

The coins continued to fall in measured accents, chanting a weird requiem and wasting their music within that prison sepulcher.

FOUND ON MISSOURI FARM

Old "Fusces" Buried During the Civil War Recently Brought to Light.

W. D. Short, who lives near Rutledge, has recently dug up on his farm 64 old muskets which have been buried since the spring of 1863, reports the Salisbury (Mo.) Press-Spectator. The farm where Mr. Short lives was once owned by his father in the time of the civil war, and the story of the guns is an interesting one.

Col. Glover, with a force of union soldiers, had camped near the Short homestead and was preparing supper when a troop of confederate cavalry dashed upon them and captured the company. Col. Glover's soldiers were equipped with "fuse" guns, an army musket superseded through out the army by more modern weapons long before the war closed. The confederate troopers took the guns, but finding they had no ammunition for the old style weapons left them on the farm of Mr. Short.

The possession of so formidable a display of arms at that period, when even a squirrel rifle was on the prohibited list, very much alarmed Mr. Short and his family, and that night a trench was dug the guns piled in and covered over. There the weapons have rested until one day recently, when W. D. Short by accident found the resting place of the old firelocks and brought them to light.

The stocks are all rotted off and their barrels, rods and bayonets eaten with rust, but they show plainly the style of the gun, and locks and bands are all intact. Since his find has become known Mr. Short has been besieged by relic hunters for the old guns and he has given them out to all applicants as souvenirs until all but two or three of the guns are gone.

FAMILIAR MISQUOTATIONS.

Some That Are Heard Almost Daily and the Originators of Them.

"When Greek meets Greek, then comes the tug of war." said a young man, according to an exchange.

"You are wrong in that quotation," his companion objected. "That is one of a number of famous sayings that are misquoted all ways. It is from Nathaniel Lee, and its right reading is 'When Greeks joined Greeks, then was the tug of war.'"

"Another misquotation is: 'It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good.' This is from Thomas Tassier, a sixteenth century worthy, and it should run: 'It's an ill wind that turns none to good.'"

"Out of sight, out of mind," is from Brooke, but it was: 'Out of mind as soon as out of sight,' as Lord Brooke wrote it.

"First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen," should run: 'First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his fellow citizens.' This famous sentence is from a resolution laid before the house of representatives in 1799 by Gen. Richard Lee.

Motors for Runaways.

A London tradesman advertises thus: "Elopement by motor is now fashionable. Loving couples who would dodge stern parents by running away to be married can be supplied here at any hour of any day with a smart motor and reliable driver, on the weekly payment system."
